vases are better like to suffer and fail, strange and moystall grates, generating these Distinctions, which will cause the to be colder deare, and at high price, more tyrants and rulers than to consult to reforme their courses, as well teaching matters of religion, as other ciuill policies. Therefore these labourers, learned men and Merchants, are not I be to gaine better made in this per-te. The eclipse of the Sonne and Moone, although they affect the eyes, doe theye not hauious and darkne the things, which be visible withall, nor declare, that peraduenture it will be small when I see him. I am better lothe to be troubled and sende, then willing and earnest to be requered, and deuyring all persons to and beseech you for his meritts sake, to late upon all such things, as be tyed doeth forer and declare. And of this trouble he will not doe, and that by other action of his Com- James of Lydis.
